SUPPORTING YOU ON ALL FUTURE INVESTMENTS

Navigating foreign investment regimes can be critical to the success of a transaction

Foreign investment scrutiny is increasingly being applied to global M&A transactions. The global trend towards protectionism has led to more restrictive government measures. This requires a more strategic and co-ordinated approach towards foreign investment rules.

Foreign direct investment (FDI) is a category of cross-border investment in which an investor resident in one economy establishes a lasting interest in and a significant degree of influence over an enterprise resident in another economy. In practice, foreign investment regimes often also apply to indirect acquisitions of shares or assets, e.g., the acquisition of a foreign parent company with a subsidiary or assets located in the jurisdiction in question.

We can provide the following services:

1. Identifying where foreign investment filings are triggered for each transaction, and carrying out an initial multi-jurisdictional foreign investment filing analysis.

2. Preparing any required foreign investment filings and engaging in any discussions with the authorities (pre- and post-notification), making any supplemental submissions and, to the extent required, agreeing remedies with the relevant authorities.

3. Identifying and addressing other related issues such as political and other stakeholder engagement.

4. Assisting you with navigating the foreign investment clearance process across all jurisdictions (working with our international network and local counsel when required). Clifford Chance would act as a "central hub" and co-ordinate each of the processes.

5. Assisting your in-house legal function with setting up standard protocols to help streamline the process for gathering and maintaining the information necessary for conducting future foreign investment filings.

EUROPEAN UNION

An overview of Member States with FDI regimes in place or pending

The map below offers a snapshot of which countries in Europe have FDI screening regimes in place.

19 Member States* are reported to have screening mechanisms in place, with a further 6 Member States considering measures.

2 Member States – Bulgaria and Cyprus – do not have, nor do they have plans to implement, an FDI screening regime.

* Swedish Protective Security Act (Sw. Säkerhetsskyddslagen) in force.

 The Irish, Belgian, and Estonian regime are expected to come into force in the course of 2023.

Purpose of the Regulation

The EU Screening Regulation 2019/452 established a framework for the EU Commission and the Member States to exchange information regarding foreign investment filings which are notified on a national level to the authorities of the Member States.

Member States were required to implement the co-operation mechanism established under the FDI Regulation by 11 October 2020.

The FDI Regulation does not create a new FDI regime but seeks to regulate the screening of FDI transactions across the EU.

Powers of the EU Commission

The EU Commission does not have any power to block or impose remedies. Instead, the EU Commission can issue a non-binding opinion to the Member State which undertakes the screening. The opinion of the EU Commission has to be taken into "due consideration". The same also applies to the non-binding comments from the other Member States. The final decision is always taken by the Member State which conducts the foreign investment screening.

Timeline

The EU Commission and other Member States have 35 calendar days following receipt of complete information to submit the opinion and comments to the Member State which conducts the screening.

This deadline can be extended if the EU Commission and/or other Member States request further information.

Scope of the Regulation

The EU Screening Regulation applies to critical infrastructure including energy, transport, water, health, communications, media, data processing or storage, aerospace, defence, electoral or financial infrastructure and sensitive facilities, as well as land and real estate crucial for the use of such infrastructure.

The scope of application also comprises critical technologies and dual-use items including artificial intelligence, robotics, semiconductors, cybersecurity, aerospace, defence, energy storage, quantum and nuclear technologies as well as nanotechnologies and biotechnologies. Further sectors caught by the EU Screening Regulation include supply of critical inputs, including energy or raw materials, food security, access to sensitive information, including personal data, or the ability to control such information and the freedom and pluralism of the media.

Finally, the EU Screening Regulation also applies to projects or programmes of EU interest as listed in an annex to the EU Screening Regulation (including Governmental Satellite Communications, known as Govsatcom, and the EU4Health Programme, one of the EU's responses to the COVID-19 pandemic).

Annual Report by the EU Commission

Prior to the entry into force of the FDI Screening Regulation on 11 October 2020, there was no formalised, EU-wide cooperation between Member States and the European Commission on FDI matters. The European Commission had no role in the screening of FDI into the EU.

On 9 September 2022, the EU Commission published its second Annual Report on the screening of FDI into the Union. Its key findings were:

i. more than 400 cases were screened under the FDI screening mechanisms;

ii. 96% of the dossiers formally screened were approved, the large majority without conditions (73%), some with conditions (23%), a very small portion (1%) were prohibited, and 3% were aborted by the parties;

iii. the 5 sectors with the highest number of transactions were information and communication technologies, manufacturing, financial activities, wholesale and retail, and construction; and

iv. the 5 most common countries of origin of the ultimate investor, in the cases notified, were the US, the UK, China, the Cayman Islands, and Canada.

AUSTRIA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. According to the current legislation, foreign investment filings are suspensory. Thus, the approval of the Federal Minister for Labor and Economy (BMAW) will have to be obtained prior to closing. Criminal sanctions, including imprisonment, will be possible in cases of gun-jumping.

Nature of the review

The BMAW can prohibit the acquisition of an Austrian target if the acquisition poses a risk to security or public order in Austria (or another EU Member State). If such risk can be mitigated by commitments/remedies (Auflagen), the transaction must be cleared with commitments/remedies. The BMAW may impose commitments/remedies unilaterally. In practice, there is an exchange on the nature and scope of commitments/remedies between the BMAW and the acquirer. In order to establish whether an investment poses a risk to security or public order, the BMAW considers the following factors:

- Investor-related factors (e.g. direct or indirect control of the acquirer by the government of a third state)
- The effect of the investment in the (highly) critical sectors listed in the Annex to the ICA.

Highly critical sectors are: Defense equipment and technologies; operation of critical energy infrastructure; operation of critical digital infrastructure, in particular 5G infrastructure; water; operating systems that guarantee the data sovereignty of the Republic of Austria; research and development in the fields of medicines, vaccines, medical devices and personal protective equipment.

"Normal" critical sectors are in particular: critical infrastructures (e.g., in energy, IT, transport, telecoms); critical technologies and dual-use items (e.g., artificial intelligence, semiconductors, defense technologies); security of supply of critical inputs (e.g., energy, raw materials, food, medicines and vaccines); access to or ability to control sensitive information; freedom and pluralism of the media.

Timetable

- EU Screening mechanism (introductory phase): 35 calendar days (or longer).
- Phase I: additional one month (no extension possible).
- Phase II: additional two months (no extension possible).

Austrian FDI proceedings formally start with the kick-off of the EU cooperation mechanism (EUCM). The BMAW does not kicked off the EUCM if it deems the submitted information to be incomplete.

Triggering events

Direct or indirect acquisition by a non-EU/non-EEA/ non-Swiss investor of:

- an Austrian business or legal entity;
- material parts of an Austrian business resulting in the acquisition of a controlling influence over such parts of a business;
- a controlling influence over an Austrian business or legal entity; or
- voting rights of at least 10% (if the Austrian target is active in a highly critical sector) or 25% (if the Austrian target is active in a "normal" critical sector).

Under Austrian legislation, it is unclear whether a filing obligation is triggered if the foreign acquirer acquires non-controlling voting shares of at least 10% (or 25%) in a non-Austrian entity which itself holds a non-controlling voting interest of at least 10% (or 25%) in the Austrian target. By contrast, a filing obligation is triggered, if a foreign acquirer acquires a controlling influence over a non-Austrian entity which itself holds a non-controlling voting interest of at least 10% (or 25%) in the Austrian target (or vice versa).

If the Austrian target is a microenterprise, the acquisition is exempted from the mandatory filing obligation.

Recent Developments:

The BMAW has started to send RFIs already during the introductory phase (EU screening mechanism) to use the time at hand more effectively.

Between 25 July 2020 and 24 July 2022, the BMAW initiated 19 in-depth proceedings (Phase II). Commitments/remedies (Auflagen) focus predominantly on safeguarding security of supply, most frequently in the health sector. Commitments/remedies have also been imposed in relation to IT security.

CZECH REPUBLIC

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The Czech FI Act requires that approval of the Ministry of Industry and Trade must be requested prior to making an investment into a number of strategic sectors.
Financial penalties. Failure to comply with statutory obligations may result in administrative fines up to the amount of 2% of turnover (or up to approximately EUR 3.8 million, if the turnover cannot be determined) of the foreign investor.

Nature of the review

The Czech FI Act applies to investors whose residence (or nationality, if an investor is a natural person) is located outside the EU; or investors directly or indirectly controlled by persons whose residence (or nationality, if an investor is a natural person) is located outside the EU.

Sector-specific scrutiny relates to (i) manufacturing, research, development, innovation or ensuring the life cycle of arms and military equipment; (ii) critical infrastructure; (iii) critical cybersecurity infrastructure, and (iv) dual-use items (including software and technology, which can be used for both civil and military purposes).

Timetable

In general, the Ministry has 90 days to issue its approval. This time period may be extended by up to 30 days in particularly complex cases. Any foreign investor may request consultation with the Ministry before completing the transaction. Such consultation would be advisable especially in cases when it is not certain whether the Czech FI Act will be applicable.

Triggering events

Under the Czech FI Act, a relevant transaction is one that results in a non-EU investor, directly or indirectly acquiring:

- a stake equal to or greater than 10% of voting rights in the target;
- a membership of the foreign investor (or its related party) in corporate bodies of the target;
- the asset through which the target's business activity is carried out by the investor; or
- any other type of control resulting in the foreign investor gaining access to information, systems or technology which are important in connection with the protection of the security of the Czech Republic, or its internal or public order.

Update on the FDI regime

On 19 January 2021, the Czech Parliament passed a new act that aims to strengthen the control of foreign direct investments in the Czech Republic (the "Czech FI Act"). It became effective on 1 May 2021.

The Czech FI Act has a significant impact on many strategic investments from non-EU countries.

DENMARK

Type of filing requirement

The Danish Act on Screening of Certain Foreign Direct Investments, etc. in Denmark contains two screening mechanisms:

- A mandatory and suspensory authorisation regime for foreign investments in Danish companies, which are active within particularly sensitive sectors. If an investment subject to the mandatory regime is completed without prior approval, and approval is subsequently denied because the investment is found to constitute a threat to national security or public order, the Danish Business Authority may order the investment to be divested. If the investment is not divested within a certain deadline, the Danish Business Authority may suspend the voting rights of the investor in the Danish entity.
- A voluntary and non-suspensory notification regime for foreign investments in Danish companies within all sectors other than the particularly sensitive sectors. For such investments, it is possible for the Danish Business Authority to initiate an investigation as to whether the investment may constitute a threat to national security or public order for a period of up to 5 years after the completion of the investment. If this is found to be the case, the Danish Business Authority may order the investment to be divested (in which case the above similarly applies).

Nature of the review

Approval is subject to the Danish Business Authority finding that the investment does not constitute a threat to national security or public order.

When assessing whether an investment may constitute a threat to national security or public order, the Danish Business Authority will take into account, inter alia, whether:

- the foreign investor is directly or indirectly controlled by a foreign government, including foreign government agencies or foreign armed forces of a third country, including through ownership or substantial financing;
- the foreign investor is or has been involved in activities affecting security or public order in an EU Member State or in other friendly and allied countries;
- there is a serious risk that the foreign investor is engaged in or has relationships to illegal or criminal activities significant to national security or public order;
- there are indications that the foreign investor is deliberately trying to circumvent the screening rules, e.g. through the use of front company constructions.

Timetable

The ordinary review period under both regimes is up to 60 business days from the Danish Business Authority's declaration that the notification is complete. The deadline may be extended up to 90 business days under certain conditions.

Under the mandatory regime, if the Danish Business Authority does not issue a decision within the deadline, the investment is not automatically considered approved, meaning that the review period may in principle be longer than the deadline.

Under the voluntary regime, if the Danish Business Authority does not issue a decision within the deadline, the investment is automatically considered approved.

If the Danish Business Authority finds that the investment may constitute a threat to national security or public order, and the Danish Business Authority's concerns cannot be alleviated by conditions, the Danish Business Authority must refer the matter to the Danish Minister of Industry, Business and Financial Affairs. The Minister's review is not subject to any deadlines.

Triggering event(s)

Under the mandatory and suspensory authorisation regime, a filing to the Danish Business Authority is required in the following cases:

- A foreign investor's direct or indirect acquisition of a qualified stake (i.e. 10% or more of the shares or the voting rights or similar control by other means) in a Danish company active within a particularly sensitive sector.
- A foreign investor's increase of its stake to 20% or more, 1/3 or more, 50% or more, 2/3 or more, or 100% in a Danish company active within a particularly sensitive sector.
- A foreign investor's greenfield investment in (i.e. establishment of or capital injection up to certain monetary thresholds into) a Danish company, which is going to be active within in a particularly sensitive sector.

In this context, foreign investors are considered to be non-Danish citizens, non-Danish companies, and Danish companies subject to control or significant influence by non-Danish citizens or non-Danish companies (i.e. the non-Danish citizens or companies directly or indirectly have at least 25% of the shares or voting rights or similar control by other means in the Danish company).

The voluntary and non-suspensory notification regime applies to investments in a Danish company active within any other sector than the particularly sensitive sectors, provided that the foreign investor directly or indirectly acquires at least 25% of the shares or voting rights or similar control by other means of the Danish company and the investment may constitute a threat to national security or public order.

In this context, foreign investors are considered to be non-EU/EFTA citizens, non-EU/EFTA companies, and EU/EFTA companies subject to control or significant influence by non-EU/EFTA citizens or non-EU/EFTA companies (i.e. the non-EU/EFTA citizens or companies directly or indirectly have at least 25% of the shares or voting rights or similar control by other means in the EU/EFTA company).

Proposal for an amendment to the Danish FDI Act

On 3 May 2023, a proposal for an amendment of the Danish Act on Screening of Certain Foreign Direct Investments was introduced. The proposal suggests an expansion of the scope of the mandatory and suspensory authorisation regime to contracts relating to the upcoming energy island project in the North Sea, i.e., before entering into a contract relating to the establishment, co-ownership or operation of the future energy island, the future contracting party (regardless of domicile) must obtain pre-approval by the Danish Business Authority. The proposal also suggests lessening the administrative burdens for applicants as well new deadlines for the Danish Business Authority's review of investments, i.e., up to 45 business days in phase 1 and up to 125 business days in phase 2. The proposal has been discussed at first reading in the Parliament on 11 May 2023 and is expected to come into force on 1 July 2023.

ESTONIA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. The approval of the Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority must be obtained before implementing the transaction.

Financial penalties. The Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority may use coercive measures in case a transaction is implemented without clearance. These include a potential to issue a fine up to EUR 100,000. This can be applied repeatedly (once per day) to both the Foreign Investor as well as any other participant to the transaction.

Structural penalties. The Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority may issue a prescript obliging the parties to unwind the transaction implemented without clearance and oblige the parties to the transaction to undertake other steps to revert the situation as it was prior to implementing the transaction.

Nature of the review

The Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority may block the transaction in case it is capable of endangering the national security or public order of Estonia or other EU Member States.

The Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority will in respect to the foreign investor assess:

- The countries and economic sectors in which the foreign investor is active in;
- The ownership structure of the foreign investor;
- Source of financing used for the transaction;
- Potential influence of a third country over the foreign investor;
- The involvement of the foreign investor or its ultimate beneficiary owner in any previous or potential future illegal activity activities and whether the foreign investor or its ultimate beneficial owner has previously endangered the national security of Estonia or any other EU Member State.

In respect to the target entity, the Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority will assess:

- The general competitive environment in the economic sector in which the target is active and the importance of the target entity in that sector;
- To which extent is the target entity subject to EU or public funding;
- The impact of the foreign investment on the activities of the target undertaking, its customers and suppliers, as well as on the economic sector in which the target is active in general; and
- The R&D activities of the target entity and the intellectual property rights belonging to the target.

Timetable

The proceedings can be separated into two phases, depending on whether the transaction requires an in-depth assessment or not.

Under phase 1, a decision can be expected in 30 calendar days from a complete filing.

Under phase 2, a decision up to 90 calendar days in addition to the 30-day timetable of phase 1. This can further be extended by 60 calendar days for negotiations between the Consumer Protection and Technical Regulatory Authority and the foreign investor.

The Estonian Foreign Investment regime will apply to transactions implemented on or after 1 September 2023.

Triggering event(s)

- Prior authorisation will be required where an investor (i) registered under the laws of a third country (non-EU), or (ii) with an ultimate beneficiary owner with a third country citizenship, acquires directly or indirectly (i) a 10% shareholding or equivalent voting rights, or (ii) a 50% shareholding or control (within the meaning of EU competition law), in a target entity protected under the Estonian Law on Assessing the Reliability of Foreign Investment.
- According to the Law on Assessing the Reliability of Foreign Investment, Target entities active in Estonia, in the following economic activates or meeting the below criteria are considered protected entities:

  - a state-owned company (at least 10% ownership by the state);
  - an enterprise that manufactures and/or supplies to a state institution goods specified in the list of military goods or dual-use goods specified in the Estonian Strategic Goods Act, or an enterprise that provides technical assistance for such goods;
  - a nationwide television or radio service provider or an on-demand audiovisual media service provider within the meaning of the Media Services Act, as well as a publisher of news, newspapers and magazines in print media and on the Internet, whose turnover related to their respective activities in Estonia in the previous calendar year was at least three million euros;

  - an operator of an Estonian seaport belonging to the pan-European transport network in accordance with certain EU laws.

Prior authorisation will also be required where a foreign investor acquires assets or a business unit of the target entity used for the provision of the aforementioned business activities, provided that such assets or business unit forms a standalone business, to which turnover can be attributed.

FRANCE

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. The approval of the Minister for the Economy must be obtained prior to making an investment in a number of strategic sectors.

Financial penalties. Maximum penalty is the highest of: (i) twice the amount of the investment, (ii) 10% of the annual turnover (excluding taxes) of the target company and (iii) EUR 5 million for legal entities and EUR 1 million for individuals – and criminal fines.

Nature of the review

The Minister for the Economy may intervene where transactions concern activities:

- likely to jeopardise national defence interests, the exercise of public authority, public order or public safety;
- concerning essential infrastructure, goods or services, critical technologies or the research and development of dual-use goods;
- in relation to infrastructure, goods or services that are vital to guaranteeing certain domains (e.g., integrity, security and continuity of the water and energy supply, or the protection of public health).

Timetable

A decision can be expected within 30 business days from the request for clearance. RFIs from the Authority will nevertheless stop the clock for review. This review period can be extended by a further 45 business days in complex matters. A target can seek an opinion from the Minister at any time, to establish whether it falls within the scope of the regime; the Minister must reply within two months.

Triggering event(s)

- Prior authorisation will be required where there is:
  - an acquisition of control, as defined in article L. 233-3 of the French Commercial Code, of any French law entity;
  - an acquisition, in part or in full, of any business division operated by a French law entity (including asset sale); or
  - for non-EU/EEA investors only, an acquisition, directly or indirectly, solely or in concert, of more than 25% of the voting rights in a French law entity.

> NB: the above 25% threshold had temporarily been lowered to 10% in 2020, only for listed companies in France. The French Minister of the Economy has stated in January 2023 the lower threshold will become permanent – which has now been confirmed by the French FDI Authority in the context of its second annual report, published in May 2023 .*

- A foreign investor in a chain of control will be subject to a filing requirement even if the foreign investor is ultimately controlled by a French entity.
- The regime extends to all target entities governed by French law carrying out activities in a strategic sector.
- The list of strategic sectors is extensive and was expanded in April 2020 to include (i) agricultural products contributing to national food security objectives, (ii) political and general information press services, (iii) quantum technologies, (iv) energy storage and (v) biotechnologies. It was further expanded in September 2021 to include technologies involved in the production of renewable energy.

Second Annual report published on 9 May 2023 by the French FDI Authority

- 325 requests were submitted in 2022 to the Authority, a stable number compared to 2021, with 131 transactions being approved, 53% of which were subject to commitments.
- 24% of the reviewed transactions were linked to the defense sector, 52% were related to essential infrastructure, goods, or services, and the remaining 24% were a mix of both sectors. 76% of investment in the defense sector were approved subject to commitments.
- Investors mostly remained non-EU/EEA based (especially from the UK, the US, and Canada). EEA-based investors are primarily from Germany, Luxembourg and Italy.
- France ranks amongst the most active members to the European network within the first two year, with 108 transactions notified to the network within the first year.
- In September 2022, France was one of the first jurisdictions to publish FDI guidelines, setting the tone in Europe and participating in the harmonisation of practices in the EU.

GERMANY

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. According to the current legislation, foreign investment filings are suspensory. Thus, the approval of the Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Climate Action will have to be obtained prior to closing. Criminal sanctions, including imprisonment, will be possible in cases of gun-jumping.

Nature of the review

The Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Climate Action can prohibit the acquisition of a German target if the transaction leads to a "probable adverse effect" to the public order or security of Germany or of another EU Member State or in relation to certain EU programmes/projects.

Cross-sectoral scrutiny includes, amongst others, the following industries:

- critical infrastructure (energy, water, telecommunications, finance and insurance, healthcare, transportation and food), media, certain cloud and telematics services, and certain telecommunications surveillance measures;
- essential pharmaceuticals, medical products and in-vitro diagnostics, in particular for the treatment of highly infectious diseases, and medical personal protective equipment;
- certain areas of earth remote sensing systems, artificial intelligence, autonomous driving or flying, industrial robots, semiconductors, cybersecurity, aeronautical/aerospace, nuclear technology, smart meter gateways, information and communication technology, critical raw materials, secret patents, and agricultural real estate.

Sector-specific scrutiny relates to the defence sector, in particular weapons, and certain cryptographic products, as well as specific dual-use products.

Timetable

Cross-sectoral and sector-specific scrutiny:

- Phase I: two months
- Phase II: additional four months.

In complex cases, Phase II proceedings can be further extended by a further four months. An additional deadline extension (Phase I and Phase II) is possible upon the parties' consent. The timeline is stopped if the Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Climate Action deems the submitted information to be incomplete or if the parties enter into remedy negotiations with the German government.

Triggering event(s)

Cross-sectoral scrutiny: Indirect or direct acquisition by non-EU investors of at least 10% of the voting rights in a German target active in critical infrastructure, IT services, or the media, or 20% of the voting rights in a German target active in any of the other industries, listed in the second and third bullet points in the left column. For the industries which are not listed in the left-hand column, a 25% threshold applies.

The filing obligation exists only regarding the industries in relation to which the 10% or 20% thresholds apply. The 25% threshold does not lead to a filing requirement. However, the Federal Ministry of Economic Affairs and Climate Action has the discretion to call in such transactions. The same also applies in relation to certain acquisitions of "control" even if the 10% or 20% thresholds are not met (e.g., right to nominate board members).

Sector-specific scrutiny: Indirect or direct acquisition of at least 10% of the voting rights in a German target by non-German investors.

A foreign investor in a continuous 10% (or 20%/25%) chain will be subject to a filing requirement even if the foreign investor is ultimately controlled by a German entity.

Case study: Heyer Medical/ Aeonmed

Heyer Medical AG, a relatively small German manufacturer of medical products with a focus on ventilation and anesthesia devices, which had filed for insolvency in 2018, was acquired by the Chinese undertaking Aeonmed Group in 2019. The concentration was closed early 2020. At that time, the transaction was not subject to a mandatory filing requirement. However, the BMWK initiated proceedings after closing in mid 2020 and prohibited the acquisition retroactively two years later in view of possible serious risks for public order and security with regard to the supply of essential medical products for the healthcare sector. The prohibition was appealed by Aeonmed to the Administrative Court in Berlin. A decision of the court is expected for 2023.

HUNGARY

Type of filing requirement – two different regimes

Mandatory and suspensory. Currently there are two different FDI regimes in Hungary, both of which are mandatory and require prior notification to and acknowledgement by the competent Ministers (Minister leading the Prime Minister's Cabinet Office for the General FDI Regime and the Minister of the Economic Development) before implementing transactions. The first regime mainly concerns activities that are closely related to national security (e.g., production of weapons, providing public services and financial services) and this regime was introduced in 2018 following EU recommendations ("General FDI Regime"). The second regime, introduced in 2020 due to the COVID-19 epidemic, has a much wider scope including most sectors of the economy ("Special FDI Regime") ("strategic activities and sectors").

Sanctions for non-compliance include fines up to approx. EUR 25,000 (General FDI Regime) or double the transaction value (Special FDI Regime). The transaction will be considered null and void in both cases.

Nature of the review

The competent Ministries for both regimes will basically examine whether the contemplated transaction "harms the security interests of Hungary". The Ministers evaluate:

a) whether the proposed transaction endangers or threatens to endanger the national interest, public order or public security of Hungary (General and Special FDI Regime);

b) whether the applicant is directly or indirectly under the control of any administrative agency of any non-EU state (Special FDI Regime);

c) whether the applicant was involved in any activity relating to a public security or public order issue in any other Member State (Special FDI Regime);

d) whether there is substantial risk that the applicant will commit any crime or illegal activity (Special FDI Regime).

If the Minister finds that any of the foregoing conditions apply, it shall issue a decision which forbids completion of the contemplated transaction, otherwise the Minister shall approve the notification.

Timetable

The notification shall be made under both regimes within 10 days from signing the relevant agreement (i.e., SPA in most cases) and the competent minister has 60 days (General FDI Regime) or 30 business days (Special FDI Regime) to decide on the transaction. These deadlines may be extended by an additional 60 or 15 days. The procurement of the approval of the relevant Ministry should be treated as a condition precedent in the transaction documents.

Triggering event(s)

Different triggering events apply under the different regimes but both regimes concentrates primarily on the activities of Hungarian target companies, the type of the transaction and the origin/residence of the foreign investor. Both regimes apply to both share and asset transactions.

Triggering events under the General FDI Regime – both share and asset deals – are caught:

a) a foreign investor establishes a new Hungarian company or acquires a stake in an existing Hungarian company, solely or together with other foreign investor(s), exceeding 25% (for privately held companies) or 10% (in publicly listed companies), or acquires a 'dominant influence'; or

b) foreign investor(s) acquire(s) a stake of less than 25% in a privately held company registered in Hungary, but the total stake thus held by foreign investor(s) as a result exceeds 25%; or

c) a foreign investor registers a branch office in Hungary for the purpose of carrying out strategic activities; or

d) a foreign investor acquires assets or a right to operate or use infrastructure or assets that are used for carrying out strategic activities; or

e) a company registered in Hungary, in which foreign investor(s) hold a stake equivalent to that in point a) or b) above, takes up a strategic activity.

Foreign investor definition under the General FDI Regime:

Under the General FDI Regime any natural person or legal entity qualifies as a foreign investor, if it is (i) citizen of/registered in a country outside of the EU, EEA or Switzerland or (ii) a legal entity registered in the EU, EEA or Switzerland if controlled by a non-EU/EEA/Swiss person/entity (EU entity controlled by non-EU investor). According to Covid-19 related interim measures to the General FDI Regime, any natural person or legal entity citizen of/registered in a Member State of the EU/EEA or Switzerland is also considered as a foreign investor until 1 June 2023.

Triggering events under the Special FDI Regime:

Acquisition of ownership interest; capital increase; mergers, demergers, transformations to another company form; issuance of bonds which are convertible or convert to equity or provide preferential subscription rights; establishing usufruct over equity, provided that as a result the foreign investor would acquire :

a) majority control (by way of ownership, voting rights, appointing management or otherwise) if the investment reaches or exceeds HUF 350 million (approx. EUR 880,000); or

b) at least 5% ownership interest (or 3% ownership interest in case of public companies), if the investment reaches or exceeds HUF 350 million (approx. EUR 880,000); or

c) an ownership interest reaching 10%, 20% or 50% in a strategic company or any level of interest which, if computed together with any other foreign investors' interest, exceeds 25%.

In addition, irrespective of ownership thresholds or transaction sizes, the transfer of using/operational rights of infrastructures and assets that are 'indispensable for the operation of strategic companies' (including the pledging of these assets and infrastructures) require both notification to and acknowledgement by the competent minister.

Foreign investor definition under the Special FDI Regime

According to the Special FDI Regime foreign investors are those (natural or legal) persons or organisations which are (i) citizens of/registered in a country which is outside of the EU, EEA or Switzerland; or (ii) legal entities registered in the EU, EEA or Switzerland, if they are under the majority control of (natural or legal) persons or organisations citizens of/registered in a country which is outside of the EU, EEA or Switzerland (EU entity controlled by non-EU investor). The Special FDI Regime also applies to EU/EEA/Swiss investors (natural and legal persons) if they acquire majority control and the investment exceeds approx. EUR 880,000 (i.e. HUF 350,000,000 as set out in the New FDI Regime).

Case study: Blocking Aegon's business sale

On 7 April 2021, the competent Hungarian Minister refused to approve the previously announced sale of Aegon's Central and Eastern European operations to Vienna Insurance Group (VIG). Under the EUR 830 million deal, VIG had agreed to acquire Aegon's insurance, pension, and asset management business in Hungary, Poland, Romania and Turkey. The decision of the Ministry stated that the intended acquisition by a foreign investor of the Aegon companies in Hungary is denied and the transaction was not closed in its original form as a result of that decision. The decision triggered the procedure of the European Court of Justice, which investigated the case and found that the Hungarian veto decision violated the EU Merger Regulation and ordered Hungary to withdraw the decision. This did not happen as thereafter it was agreed between VIG and the Hungarian State that the Hungarian State will acquire 45 % interests in Aegon Hungary and the other subsidiaries of VIG in Hungary as the result of which the transaction could be closed on 25 March 2022.

ITALY

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. The transaction can be implemented only when the approval of the Presidency of the Council of Ministers has been obtained (or the time limit for it to exercise its powers has passed).

The parties may submit a joint notification of the transaction.

Where no notification is made, review proceedings may be commenced by the Presidency. In addition to the acquisition being void (and any potential criminal liability arising outside the FDI regime), the Presidency can impose a pecuniary fine up to double the value of the transaction and, in any case, not less than 1% of the cumulative turnover of the companies involved and, for the 5G sector, up to 3% of the turnover of the acquirer.

Nature of the review

The Presidency can (i) oppose the acquisition of the target, (ii) impose conditions or (iii) veto strategic companies' resolutions where there is a threat of serious prejudice to the following relevant strategic sectors:

- defence and national security;
- energy, transport and communications;
- water and health;
- raw materials and food;
- data and sensitive information processing/storage/access, or control of access to sensitive information (e.g., personal data, or the ability to control such information);
- the freedom and pluralism of the media;
- financial, including credit and insurance, sectors and financial market infrastructure;
- artificial intelligence, robotics, semiconductors, cybersecurity, nanotechnologies, biotechnologies;
- 5G and cloud technologies;
- non-military aerospace infrastructure and technologies;
- critical technologies and dual-use items; and
- electoral infrastructure.

Any transactions that involve the transfer of assets (including technologies and IP rights) in these sectors – subject to the fulfillment of the conditions listed under the section "Triggering events" – must be notified. For the 5G and cloud technology sector, special provisions apply.

Timetable

The review proceedings can last up to 45 calendar days (30 calendar days for the 5G sector). This time limit can be extended (by up to 10 calendar days, if additional information is required from the parties, and by up to 20 calendar days if additional information is required from third parties). A simplified procedure may apply in case of straightforward transactions.

The parties may submit a pre-notification.

Triggering event(s)

Acquisition of strategic targets.

- For a target that is strategically important to defence and national security, notification is required for acquisitions of more than 3%, 5%, 10%, 15%, 20%, 25% and 50%.
- For energy, transport, communication, healthcare, agri-food, financial, credit, and insurance sectors, notification is required for acquisition of control by all EU acquirers, including those resident in Italy.
- All other sectors (except for 5G). Notification is required:
  - if EU acquirer(s), for acquisitions of direct or indirect control; and
  - if non-EU acquirer(s), (i) for acquisitions of direct or indirect control; (ii) for direct or indirect acquisitions of a stake (or voting rights) equal to at least 10% of the target's capital (or voting rights) AND where the investment's value is at least EUR 1 million; or (iii) for direct or indirect acquisitions of a stake equal to 15%, 20%, 25% or 50%.

Adoption of board resolutions, acts or transactions (e.g., those resulting in the loss of ownership, control and availability of strategic assets) → for all sectors.

Incorporation of a company carrying out strategic activities or holding strategic assets in Italy.

Case study: Acquisition of a significant stake in TIM S.p.A. by Vivendi S.A.

Vivendi S.A. acquired a stake in the share capital of TIM S.p.A. – a leading Italian communications company – sufficient to trigger notification to the Presidency. However, notification was not filed. The Presidency opened ex officio review proceedings and imposed (1) certain conditions concerning TIM S.p.A.'s governance and (2) a fine of EUR 74.3 million on TIM S.p.A. for failure to notify the Presidency of the acquisition of control of TIM S.p.A.'s strategic assets by Vivendi S.A.

THE NETHERLANDS

Forthcoming cross-sector regime

The legislative proposal for a cross-sector 'foreign' direct investment regime has been approved in parliament and will most likely enter in to force by the beginning of 2023. There are currently two proposed ministerial decrees in consultation that will supplement the degree: one decree clarifies the scope of sensitive technology and the other introduces rules mostly of an administrative/technical nature. The regime will have retroactive effect from 8 September 2020 allowing the Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate to intervene in investments made after that date and require ad hoc notification. Parties will then still only need to notify if ordered to do so in relation to national security risks. It is understood that the Dutch government is currently in the process of drafting a defence sector-specific screening regime and is currently investigating whether (parts of) the agri-food sector should also be screened.

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The Act requires that approval by the Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate must be obtained prior to making an investment. Financial penalties. Failure to comply with the notification requirements, implementation without authorisation and other breaches of the Act may be subject to a fine up to 10% of the turnover of the relevant undertaking.

Nature of the review

The regime captures companies that are active in vital processes or sensitive technologies and managers of high-tech campuses in the Netherlands.

Vital processes can be described as services that are essential to Dutch society. Some sectors have already been classified as such but more can be identified by ministerial decree. Current examples include: banking, gas storage, nuclear energy, designated activities at Schiphol airport and the port of Rotterdam, etc. Sensitive technologies are currently understood to include dual use goods that fall under EU export control regulations and other technology. A proposed ministerial decree has been published where a limited number of dual-use items are excluded and certain technologies are classified as highly sensitive. In that same decree, four new additional technologies are designated as highly sensitive: quantum technology, photonics technology, semi-conductor technology and so-called High Assurance products.

The Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate will assess whether the investment could pose a threat to national security, in particular from the creation of undesirable strategic dependencies, threats to the continuity and resilience of vital processes and the possible impairment of the integrity and exclusivity of knowledge and information. It attempts to do so by taking into account various factors including, for example:

- the identity, nationality, financial situation and track record of the investor(s);
- (a lack of transparency in) the ownership structure of the investor;
- any restrictive sanction measures or obligations imposed on the investor; and
- the level of security or safety in the country of origin of the investor.

The investment will be allowed either unconditionally or with conditions to the effect that certain mitigating measures are met, such as additional security requirements or the appointment of a security officer. The investment will be prohibited if the national security risks cannot be remedied through mitigating measures.

Timetable

The Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate will initially have eight weeks after notification to take a decision. If further investigation is required, a second phase of another eight weeks will apply. Either phase may be extended, although the (potentially combined) extension can only be for six months in total. Finally, if the EU FDI screening regulation applies, an additional three months' extension is possible. So-called "stop the clock" questions may suspend the statutory review period at any time.

Triggering events

A mandatory notification is triggered when there is a change of control, the concept widely used in both Dutch and EU competition law. In essence, that is a change in the capacity to exercise decisive influence over an undertaking. In addition, a lower threshold may apply to highly sensitive technologies, for example the acquisition/increase of 10%, 20% or 25% of voting rights.

Telecoms specific regime

The act on undesired control in telecommunications (Wet ongewenste zeggenschap telecommunicatie) entered into force on 1 October 2020 (with retroactive effect to 1 March 2020).

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The act requires that approval of the Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate must be requested prior to making an investment. Financial penalties. Failure to comply with the notification requirements and other violations of the obligations in relation to the draft act may be penalised by a fine up to EUR 900,000.

Nature of the review

The act enables the Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate to review and block an acquisition leading to predominant control over a Dutch telecommunications party and to intervene in the existing ownership of such control, where predominant control is acquired or held by an undesired person if this would lead to a threat to public interest, including national security and public order.

The act relates to the control of telecommunications parties in a broad sense, as it comprises not only providers of electronic communications networks and services, but also providers of hosting services, data centres, trust services and internet exchange points.

Timetable

The Minister of Economic Affairs and Climate will have eight weeks after notification to decide whether it will prohibit the proposed acquisition. As this is also subject to so-called "stop the clock" questions, it may in practice take longer than eight weeks. If the Minister is of the opinion that further investigation is required, the review period may be extended by six months.

Triggering events

The act provides that predominant control (overwegende zeggenschap) in any event concerns: (i) the possession (solely or jointly) of at least 30% of the (direct or indirect) voting rights; (ii) the ability to name more than half the board members; or (iii) the ability to exercise control through special governance rights.

POLAND

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory foreign investment regime: In 2020, the Polish foreign investment regime introduced a procedure for clearance before the Polish Competition Authority (the "PCA") for non-EU/EEA/OECD investors.

Mandatory specific companies regime: The acquisition of strategic Polish companies, regardless of the investor's country of origin, requires notification to, and may be blocked by, the relevant government authority in Poland, if they are listed by name in the Regulation of the Council of Ministers.

Sanctions: (i) criminal penalties of imprisonment from 6 months to 5 years, under both regimes; (ii) fines of up to PLN 50 million (~EUR 10.5 million) in the case of the foreign investment regime and PLN 100 million (~EUR 21 million) in the case of the specific companies regime. Additional financial penalties apply to anyone managing the target or exercising voting rights on behalf of an infringing foreign investor. Furthermore, any transaction effected in breach of the Polish FDI Regime will be null and void and the investor will not be able to exercise its rights attached to the shares acquired.

Nature of the review

The Polish FDI Regime introduced a clearance procedure for the acquisition of control or a significant share/capital in certain Polish companies by non-EU/EEA/OECD investors (citizenship/registered office for less than 2 years).

This applies if a transaction concerns a Polish entity that is (i) a public company listed on the Warsaw Stock Exchange (WSE), or (ii) a company that owns "critical infrastructure", or (iii) a company that operates in any of the listed sectors.

Sector-specific scrutiny relates to: (i) energy, (ii) fuels, oil, and gas, (iii) chemicals, rhenium, fertilizers, (iv) weapons and military technologies, (v) trans-shipment in ports, (vi) telecommunications, (vii) medical equipment and pharmaceuticals, (viii) processing of food and (ix) development of software used in: (a) the supply of electricity, fuels, heat, (b) the supply of water and waste treatment, (c) data storage and transmission, (d) cash/card payments, securities and derivatives transactions, and insurance services, (e) hospitals, laboratories and sale of prescription drugs, (f) transportation, (g) supply of food, (h) data gathering or processing in cloud computing.

De minimis exemption applies if the target's Polish turnover was below EUR 10 million in each of the 2 years preceding the transaction.

Timetable

Deadline for filing. In general, the approval of the PCA must be obtained prior to completion of a transaction. The notification procedure should be commenced prior to (i) entering into any agreement resulting in an obligation to acquire or achieve a significant participation/dominance, (ii) announcement of the tender offer in the case of an acquisition of a WSE-listed company, (iii) any other event resulting in the acquisition or achievement of significant participation/domination. In the case of a multi-stage transaction, before the signing of the last agreement resulting in the acquisition or achievement of significant participation /domination, the PCA accepts notifications on the basis of, for example, a conditional/preliminary agreement or a letter of intent. There are specific situations of filings post closing.

Time for clearance.

Under the foreign investment regime, following the notification, the PCA will have 30 business days to complete the initial proceedings and approve the FDI transaction or initiate additional control proceedings, which may last up to 120 calendar days.

Under the specific companies regime, the relevant government body will have 90 calendar days to decide.

Triggering events

Under the foreign investment regime, a relevant transaction will be one that results in a foreign (i.e. non-EU/EEA/OECD) inwestor's acquiring or achieving a significant participation in or a dominant position over the target, including: (i) a 20% or 40% shareholding or voting rights or profit participation, post-transaction, or (ii) the majority of the shares/votes/profit, or (iii) the power to decide on the directions of the activities of the target, including control/management and/or a profit transfer agreement over a Polish entity, or (iv) the acquisition or lease of an organised part of an enterprise from a Polish entity, or acquisition of the majority of the votes in a Polish entity.

Under the specific companies regime, the thresholds are 20%, 25%, 33%, 50% and of the shares/votes/profit.

Very few decisions from the PCA so far

2022 – The PCA initiated proceedings in three cases and issued one non-opposition decision.

November 2021 – The first phase II FDI case, concerning the acquisition of Odlewnia Zawiercie S.A. (a manufacturer of malleable cast iron fittings and machine castings) by Meide Group (a Chinese investor). As manufacture and sale of weapons-related products represents a small percentage of Odlewnia Zawiercie's operations, phase II proceedings were instituted as it was essential to investigate whether there was a threat to public order, safety or health. The PCA issued no objection to the transaction.

November 2021 – The acquisition by Raya Holding For Financial Investments S.A.E. (Egypt) of Makarony Polskie S.A. (a manufacturer of a variety of pastas, produced with or without eggs).

February 2021 – The acquisition by Chinese investor Changjiu Logistics of a significant participation in Adampol S.A. (an intermodal terminal crucial for container transport between China and Europe).

October 2020 – The first transaction notified under the new Polish FDI Regime concerned the acquisition of Centrum Rozliczeń Elektronicznych Polskie ePłatności (a company active in the processing of cashless transactions and sales/rentals of payment terminals) by H&F Corporate Investors VIII, a Cayman Islands-based investment fund specialising in online services, business software and financial services.

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The new Romanian FDI regime enacted on 18 April 2022 is applicable to FDIs, as defined below, made or intended to be made by foreign investors, defined as (i) non-EU citizens, (ii) non-EU legal entities, (iii) EU-based legal entities controlled, directly or indirectly, by non-EU citizens or non-EU entities, or (iv) trustees of non-legal entities or similar persons that are non-EU citizens or non-EU based entities.

The types of transactions which fall under the new FDI regime ("FDIs") are those meeting one of the following criteria:

- aim to establish or to maintain lasting and direct links between the foreign investor and the target to which the capital is or will be made available in order to carry on an economic activity in Romania, which enable the exercise of control over the management of the target; or
- represent a change of shareholding at the level of a foreign investor which is a legal entity, if such entity becomes, directly or indirectly, controlled by a non-EU citizen or non-EU entity. Changes of shareholding at the level of EU-based legal entities which, directly or indirectly, undertake economic activities in Romania fall within the new FDI regime if such change leads to the exercise of control over the said EU-based legal entity by a non-EU citizen or non-EU entity; or
- represent new investments, defined as (i) an initial investment in in assets connected to the establishment of a new independent undertaking, (ii) an extension of an existing undertaking, (iii) the diversification of the production activity of an undertaking, or (iv) a fundamental change to the general production process of an undertaking.

For precautionary reasons, pursuant to an extensive interpretation of general provisions in accordance to which the Government may prohibit economic concentration raising national security concerns, a voluntary notification may be contemplated for concentrations to be implemented by EU investors, although such extensive interpretation has not yet been confirmed by the competent authorities.

Specific transparency provisions relevant for media enterprises. A specific preliminary procedure of public consultation for a 30-day period must be observed in case of FDIs related to certain categories of media outlets or online platforms.

Standstill obligation and sanctions. The implementation of an FDI without FDI authorization is forbidden. CSFDI may review any transaction ex officio or upon notice from another Romanian authority.

Failure to notify CSFDI and breaching the standstill obligation could result in fines of up to 10% of the foreign investor's total global turnover achieved in the previous year. Also, incomplete, inaccurate or misleading information may be fined with the same amount.

In case of new investments which have not achieved a turnover during the previous year, the applicable fine would amount between RON 10-50 million (approximately, EUR 2-10 million).

Nature of the review

A Commission for Screening of Foreign Direct Investments (CSFDI) will be created in the near future to review FDIs carried out in one or more of certain areas of interest from a national security perspective. CSFDI will replace the Supreme Council of National Defense (CSAT) as the authority in charge with the review of FDIs. CSAT will only remain competent to issue binding opinions in case of FDIs which require a detailed analysis.

The CSFDI is subordinated to the Government and its secretariat will be managed by the Romanian Competition Council (RCC). The RCC will also act as the contact authority for the cooperation mechanism set up between the European Commission and various Member States examining FDIs under the FDI Regulation.

Connection with merger control procedures

The FDI authorization requirement is triggered irrespective of whether the FDI represents or not an economic concentration from a merger control perspective.

If an FDI also triggers a merger control notification, both an FDI authorization request and a merger control notification will be submitted; however, the timeline of the merger control procedure may be delayed and will be finalized subject to the solution under the FDI procedure.

ROMANIA

Timetable

The FDI authorization request becomes effective (i) after the complete submission by the notifying parties of any additional information requested by CSFDI and (ii) after the issuance by all competent authorities of any relevant opinions requested by CSFDI. Generally, such opinions must be issued within 20 days from CSFDI's request; however, in case of a detailed analysis, CSAT may issue its binding opinion within 90 days from CSFDI's request.

Within 60 days after the date when the FDI authorization request becomes effective, CSFDI shall issue mandatory endorsements for the authorization of an FDI or a consultative endorsement for the conditional authorization (i.e. subject to commitments) or prohibition of an FDI.

Based on a mandatory FDI endorsement, the RCC shall issue an authorization decision within 30 days, which shall be communicated to the parties within 45 days.

In case of a consultative endorsement for the conditional authorization or prohibition of the FDI, the final decision rests upon the Government.

Triggering event(s)

Authorization is required for FDIs of a value exceeding the RON equivalent of EUR 2,000,000 and concerning target companies the activities of which relate to national security strategies in one of the following sectors: security of financial, fiscal, banking and insurance activities; energy; critical infrastructure; IT and communication systems; transport; industry; systems of supply of essential resources; trade and production of weapons, ammunition, explosives or toxic substances; citizens and collectivities; borders; protection of agriculture and environment; privatizations of state-owned enterprises or the management thereof; protection against disasters.

FDIs not reaching the EUR 2,000,000 threshold may still be subject to examination if they are deemed as likely affecting or representing risks to national security or public order, by reference to the criteria set out in Article 4 of the FDI Regulation.

 Until further legal updates or guidance is issued by the legislator, it remains unclear how the investment value should be calculated (e.g. by reference to the transaction price, equity contribution, value or turnover of the Romanian target company).*

Transitional measures and expected changes

The new FDI regime is also applicable to FDIs which have not been completed by 18 April 2022 and for which an intention to conclude an agreement or to submit a public bid has been announced as of 18 April 2022.

The transitional provisions of the new FDI regime do not clearly set out the regime applicable to transactions currently in various stages before completion and/or intended to be completed prior to the establishment of the CSFDI. In particular, it does not clarify the legal regime applicable to authorization requests submitted under the previous FDI regime and neither if authorizations obtained before 18 April 2022 for transactions yet to be implemented remain valid.

As the new FDI regime was enacted by way of a Government emergency ordinance, it is expected that inconsistencies and unclear provisions will be addressed under the draft law for approving the new FDI regime, currently under debate in Parliament.

SLOVAK REPUBLIC

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The Act on Screening of Foreign Direct Investments (the FDI Act) requires a governmental approval prior to making a critical foreign investment in a target (any person with a seat in the Slovak Republic).

Voluntary. In cases of non-critical foreign investments, the acquirer can decide whether to submit an application. The Ministry of Economy is also entitled to initiate ex officio screenings up to 2 years after the date of the transaction and can potentially impose an obligation on the foreign investor to reverse the transaction.

A foreign investor is any person (legal or natural) outside the EU i.e., persons that are not EU citizens or do not have their registered seat or place of business in the EU.

However, even EU citizens or persons with their registered seat or place of business in the EU will be considered foreign investors if they are controlled by a person outside the EU or by a public authority of a third country, such person is their ultimate beneficial owner or such person finances the transaction.

Financial penalties. The amount of the fine ranges for a foreign investor from 1% to 2% of the aggregate total net turnover in the previous FY (legal person) or from EUR 100,000 to EUR 1 million (natural person). Fine is capped with the value of the investment.

Fines may be imposed also repeatedly and both for serious breaches (making a critical foreign investment without approval), and for less serious (breach of the obligation to notify).

Timetable

Screening procedure has two phases:

- Phase I: Assessing negative impact risk
- Phase II: Screening the foreign investment

Phase I applies only in the case of a non-critical foreign investment and takes up to 30 days, the Phase II follows if a negative impact risk is identified. All critical foreign investments will undergo Phase II, which takes up to 130+ days. Decisions are subject to appeal.

Nature of the review

The FDI Act distinguishes between two types of investments:

a) critical foreign investment in the target person in the following sectors: (i) specific products (in particular weapons, explosives, pyrotechnic products), defense industry products, dual-use items (software and technology for both civilian and military purposes), biotechnology, (ii) critical infrastructure, (iii) essential services cybersecurity, digital service provider (cloud computing), providers of national-level information security encryption, (iv) media services, content sharing platforms (annual turnover >€2M), periodicals publishers, operators of news web portals and press agencies; and

b) non-critical foreign investment.

Triggering events

Under the FDI Act, a foreign investment allows a foreign investor to directly or indirectly:

- acquire a target or a part of a target;
- exercise an effective interest in a target (at least 25% of ownership interest or voting rights in a non-critical target and at least 10% in a critical target);
- increase an effective interest in a target (increase of an already existing foreign investor's effective interest of a non-critical target to at least 50% and in a critical target to at least 20%, and always when at least a 33% or 50% threshold is achieved);
- iv. exercise control of a target (the definition of control according to the Protection of Competition Act);
- v. receive ownership title or other right to material assets of a critical target (other right means any right to use or make disposition of the material assets of a target and material assets mean assets of a target that are strictly necessary to conduct the business).

Investments between related parties, the establishment of a pledge and transactions in the ordinary course of business are not considered to be foreign investments.

New Slovak FDI regime

On 1 March 2023, the FDI Act entered into force. It introduces a comprehensive screening mechanism for foreign investments in the Slovak Republic. Therefore, there have been no relevant case studies yet.

The new Act does not aim to reduce the number of foreign investments in Slovakia. The main objective is merely to ensure protection of security and public order of the Slovak Republic and the EU. Whether this objective will be met will be determined in practice.

SPAIN

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. Approval of the Government must be obtained prior to closing of an investment exceeding EUR 1 million. A financial penalty as high as the amount of the investment can be imposed in cases of non-compliance.

Nature of the review

The Government intervenes either on grounds of (i) the strategic nature of the sector invested in ("objective review"), or (ii) the characteristics of the investor ("subjective review").

- As regards the objective review, the following sectors are deemed strategic (i.e., affecting public safety, public order or public health): (i) critical infrastructure (e.g., energy, transportation, water, health, media, data processing and storage, communications, aerospace, defence and electoral or financial), as well as land and real estate vital to the use of such critical infrastructure; (ii) critical and dual-use technologies (including artificial intelligence, robotics, semiconductors, cybersecurity, aerospace, defence, energy storage, quantum and nuclear technology, nanotechnology, biotechnology, key technologies for industrial leadership and skills, and technology developed via programmes and projects of particular interest for Spain, including telecommunications); (iii) supply of essential produce (in particular, energy, raw materials, strategic connectivity services and food safety); (iv) access to sensitive information; and (v) media.
- As regards the subjective review, the following investors are affected irrespective of the sector: (i) state-owned or controlled companies (whether directly or indirectly); (ii) those having already invested or participated in the sectors deemed strategic in other EU Member States; and (iii) if there is a serious risk of the foreign investor undertaking criminal or illegal activities that affect public safety, public order or public health in Spain.

Timetable

- If the investment is worth less than EUR 5 million, a decision shall be issued within 30 business days (investments worth less than EUR 1 million are exempt).
- If the investment is above such threshold, a decision shall be issued within six months.

In both cases, conditions may be imposed and lack of response is deemed a tacit denial. Once granted, authorisations have a general validity of six months.

Triggering event(s)

A foreign investment requires prior governmental approval whenever the investor, as a consequence thereof, (i) holds 10% or more of the share capital of a Spanish company, and/or (ii) acquires control thereof (under the definition of control established in the antitrust legislation), provided that:

- either the investor is a non-EU/EFTA resident; or
- even if the investor is an EU/EFTA resident, its ultimate beneficial ownership corresponds to a non-EU/EFTA resident, such beneficial ownership being defined as (i) holding directly or indirectly in excess of 25% of the share capital or voting rights of the investor, or (ii) when control of the investor is exercised directly or indirectly by any other means.

  Although investments in assets are not expressly captured by FDI rules, they also need to be analyzed from an FDI perspective if they fall within the strategic sectors; or
- transitorily until 31 December 2024, even if the investor is an EU/EFTA resident with its ultimate beneficial ownership also in the EU/EFTA, when (i) the target is a listed company or when (ii) the target is not a listed company but the investment is worth more than EUR 500 million. In this case, though, only the objective review applies (i.e., the Government intervenes solely on grounds of the nature of the sector invested in).

Case study: Acquisition of VIAMED by Macquarie

VIAMED SALUD, SL ("VIAMED") a health services provider that is the owner of 18 private hospitals throughout Spain, was recently acquired by a Spanish company ultimately owned by Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets (Europe) Limited ("MIRA"), which at its turn is an investment vehicle of Macquarie Group Limited ("Macquarie"), an Australian resident.

VIAMED, although holding only 2% of the market share, was considered to be of strategic nature under the "public health" notion, and consequently prior governmental approval had to be requested, which was granted by the Council of Ministers in its session of 6 October 2020.

SWEDEN

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. Filings under the Swedish Protective Security Act are mandatory. The seller may not close a transaction until a consultation procedure with the relevant authority has been completed and the authority has formally decided on the matter.

Financial penalties. A failure to notify a transaction falling under the law may be sanctioned with an administrative fine. The administrative fine may not exceed 50 million Swedish krona (around EUR 5 million).

Nature of the review

Review. The relevant authority may review the transfer of activities that are of importance to Sweden's security, as well as other activities covered by a binding international commitment. This includes activities in many areas, such as the protection of water, electricity and heating plants, IT facilities, healthcare, transport infrastructure and the surveillance of important buildings.

Intervention. The relevant authority may intervene in situations where, inter alia, (i) the transferred activities could be used in a manner that could damage Sweden's security, (ii) the transferred activities have such significance to Sweden' security that a transfer would not be appropriate, (iii) where the acquirer is not considered loyal and reliable from a security point of view, or (iv) where the acquirer represents the interests of a foreign power or other antagonistic interests.

Timetable

The Act does not currently contain a timeline for the authority's examination. We understand that the Swedish Government is working on the design of a time-limiting rule.

Triggering event(s)

- Prior authorisation is required for:
  - All transactions that involve the transfer of any security-sensitive activities that are of importance to Sweden's security, as well as other activities covered by a binding international commitment.
  - There are no additional qualifying conditions or thresholds to determine the transactions covered by the legislation. Instead, all transfers, regardless of their structure or size, need to be notified to the relevant authority. The legislation even applies to the transfer of certain products or innovations.
  - Transfers of shares in public undertakings or transfers of real estate are at this stage not covered by the Act.

> NB: The notification obligation falls primarily on the entity operating the security-sensitive activities (i.e., the seller/ target). The law also provides that shareholders of such entities have a duty to notify the transfer of their shares.*

- The company itself must determine whether it carries out security-sensitive activities and whether the relevant legislation applies to its business. To determine if this is the case, the company must undertake a 'security self-assessment'. The purpose of such an analysis is to determine whether the company has information, personnel or assets that require specific protection. Further guidance is expected from the relevant authorities.
- Companies that have determined that they carry out security-sensitive activities have, since December 2021, an obligation to report these activities to the relevant authority.

Recent vetoes and new legislation

- The relevant authorities have neither prohibited any transfers nor decided to conditionally approve a transfer so far.
- A screening mechanism falling under Regulation (EU) 2019/452, establishing a framework for the screening of foreign direct investments into the Union, is proposed to enter into force on 1 December 2023. Under the proposal, investments made by investors from third countries and EU Member States (including Sweden) are subject to a notification obligation prior to the implementation of the investment. The screening authority will have the power to clear investments subject to conditions, as well as prohibit investments. Transactions expected to close as of 1 January 2024 will need to take this new legislation into consideration.

AUSTRALIA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory for foreign acquisitions that meet relevant monetary/control thresholds and where no exemptions apply.

An application must be made to the Foreign Investment Review Board ("FIRB") to obtain a letter of "no objections" from the Treasurer of Australia prior to completion of the transaction, if the transaction involves a "notifiable action" or "notifiable national security action" as defined under the Foreign Acquisitions and Takeovers Act 1975.

Failure to obtain such approval can result in civil and criminal sanctions.

Nature of the review

The Treasurer, advised by the FIRB, has the power to examine proposed foreign acquisitions and prohibit acquisitions determined to be contrary to the national interest, or impose conditions on the proposed acquisition to remove national interest concerns. The Treasurer also has a "call-in power" to review any decision not previously notified to the FIRB which is a "significant action" or a "reviewable national security action" which may pose a national security concern, for up to 10 years after the acquisition has completed.

Typically, matters that the Treasurer will take into consideration when making a decision include the impact of the acquisition on the Australian economy and community, national security and competition. Businesses, corporations or assets in certain sensitive sectors such as media, agriculture, telecommunications, defence and military, transport and encryption and security technologies are subject to stricter regulation.

The FIRB may consult with government agencies such as the Cyber and Infrastructure Security Centre and the Australian Tax Office as part of its decision-making process. It is common for the FIRB to impose standardised tax compliance conditions on any "no objections" approval.

Timetable

The Treasurer has 30 calendar days from notification to make a decision plus 10 calendar days to notify the applicant. This timing is subject to potential extension/FIRB issuing an "interim order" preventing the investment for a period of up to 90 days while it considers the proposed acquisition.

In practice, FIRB approval normally takes two to three months.

Triggering events

- Approval is required for "notifiable actions", which include direct or indirect acquisitions by a foreign investor of >20% in a target's securities if the target is an Australian corporation carrying on an Australian business, an Australian trust unit, or a holding entity of either of these, and the target is valued above certain monetary thresholds, subject to any applicable exemptions.
- Monetary thresholds are dependent on the type of asset and whether the acquiror is a foreign person or a "foreign government investor" (such as sovereign wealth, public sector pension, government agencies, SOEs).
- Stricter rules/lower thresholds apply in relation to foreign government investors (typically a >10% threshold, which can reduce to 5%) and sensitive sectors.
- Mandatory FIRB approval is also required for "notifiable national security actions". This includes starting a national security business, acquiring a direct interest in a national security business or acquiring an interest in national security land. National security businesses are endeavours that, if disrupted or carried out in a particular way, may create national security risks, such as critical infrastructure assets, telecommunications or defence. These actions have a $0 monetary screening threshold.

Case study: Withdrawal of China State Construction Engineering Corp acquisition of Probuild

On 12 January 2021, China State Construction Engineering Corporation withdrew a bid to acquire an 88% stake in Probuild, an Australian subsidiary of a South African-owned company, based on advice that the application would be rejected by the FIRB on the grounds of national security. While Probuild's focus is usually on residential towers and shopping malls, it is understood the existing development of a new headquarters for the Victoria police and a new headquarters for a biotech giant trigged national security concerns, resulting in the withdrawal of the application.

CANADA

Type of filing requirement

- For direct acquisitions of control of Canadian businesses by non-Canadians that exceed the applicable financial threshold under the Investment Canada Act (ICA), a mandatory pre-closing application for review must be made and an approval of the Minister of Innovation, Science and Industry Canada (the ISI Minister) (or, in the case of cultural businesses, the Minister of Canadian Heritage (the Heritage Minister)) must be obtained prior to implementation of the investment.
- For indirect acquisitions of cultural Canadian businesses by non-Canadians that exceed the applicable financial threshold, a mandatory application for review must be made, and an approval by the Minister of Canadian Heritage must be received, though the process can be completed before or after closing.
- For direct acquisitions of non-cultural Canadian businesses by non-Canadians that do not exceed the applicable financial threshold, as well as indirect acquisitions of non-cultural businesses and the establishment of new Canadian businesses (regardless of the identity of the purchaser), a notification filing (which does not have an associated approval) is required and can be made either before or within 30 days after closing.
- Penalties may include an order to divest the Canadian business and a maximum financial penalty of C$10,000 per day for contravention of the ICA.
- As of 2 August 2022, certain non-controlling investments in a Canadian business may be notified voluntarily, either before or after closing. Where such transactions are voluntarily notified, the government has up to 45 days from a certified notification to initiate a national security process. Where such transactions are not voluntarily notified, the government may initiate a national security process up to five years after the transaction is implemented.

Nature of the review

Net benefit review: Investments that are subject to review must demonstrate to the ISI Minister that the transaction is "likely to be of net benefit to Canada" in order to obtain the requisite approval, e.g., impact of the investment on economic activity, productivity and efficiency in Canada etc. In connection with obtaining approval, investors are typically expected to provide binding undertakings to the ISI Minister.

National security review: The ICA sets out a national security review regime that is separate from the general provisions noted above. For investments that are subject to either review or notification, as well as for acquisitions of Canadian entities by non-Canadians that fall below control, the ISI Minister can order a review to determine whether they are injurious to Canada's national security. Under the national security review regime, the government is empowered to: (i) require the investor commit to undertakings, (ii) block the investment in the case of a pre-closing national security review, or (iii) order a divestiture in the case of a post-closing national security review.

Timetable

Net benefit review: The statutory period for a "net benefit" review is 45 days from the date a complete application is received, which is extendable unilaterally by an additional 30 days by the government, and extendable further with consent of the investor.

National security review: If the ISI Minister intends to initiate the national security process, they can only do so during the period that starts when they become aware of the investment and ends 45 days after receipt of a complete application or notification (where a filing is required or made voluntarily) or 5 years after closing (where no filing is required and none is voluntarily made). At or before the expiration of the 45-day period, the ISI Minister can issue a notice indicating that they require an additional 45 days or Cabinet can order a national security review. Once a national security review has been triggered, the initial review period is 45 days, which the ISI Minister can extend for an additional 45 days, after which time, subject to the investor and ISI Minister agreeing to an extension, the ISI Minister can either determine that the investment does not raise national security concerns, or the ISI Minister can refer the matter to the Governor in Council (federal Cabinet) for a final decision, which must be made within 20 days following the ISI Minister's referral. The entire process can take up to 200 days subject to the Minister and investor agreeing to extensions.

Triggering event(s)

The filing obligations under the ICA apply to the following investments by a non-Canadian: (i) direct or indirect acquisition of control of a Canadian business, and (ii) establishment of a new Canadian business. Control is defined as (1) the acquisition of greater than 50% of the voting interests of an entity directly or indirectly carrying out a business in Canada (note that a lower threshold of 33.3% applies to corporations, although the presumption of control is rebuttable) or (2) an acquisition of all or substantially all of the assets used in carrying out a business in Canada. Investments that do not amount to an acquisition of control may be notified voluntarily (see prior page).

A "net benefit" review and approval is required only for a direct acquisition of control (or an indirect acquisition of control of a "cultural business") that exceeds certain relevant financial thresholds.

Investments injurious to national security: An acquisition of all or part of a Canadian business (whether or not it constitutes an acquisition of control) may be subject to a national security review where the ISI Minister determines that it may be injurious to Canada's national security. Investments involving sensitive sectors such as defence, critical infrastructure, critical goods and services, strategic materials, investments into businesses with proximity or access to sensitive government installations, investments by state-owned enterprises, and investments by investors from certain jurisdictions (notably the People's Republic of China, Russia and in the Middle East) often attract increased national security scrutiny.

Recent Developments

In October and November 2022, the government has twice asserted a more aggressive posture towards investments by state-owned enterprises ("SOE") in Canada's critical minerals sector: first, announcing a new policy applying stricter scrutiny to such investments and, days later, announcing that it has ordered the divestiture of investments by three Chinese firms in Canadian-headquartered companies that have actual or potential operations in lithium and, in certain cases, other critical minerals. These steps are the latest in a series of measures the Canadian government has taken to strengthen Canada's national security regime, in particular with respect to investments by SOEs or private companies with ties to nations of higher sensitivity (which the government regards to constitute a SOE), such as Russia or China.

On 7 December 2022, the Canadian government tabled Bill C-34: An Act to amend the Investment Canada Act, which would mark the first significant legislative changes to the ICA since 2009. While not anticipated to come into force until late in 2023 or early 2024, the amendments encompass numerous changes designed to strengthen national security review and improve the regime's administrative efficiency. The most significant change involves a mandatory pre-closing notification regime for investments of any size in an entity carrying on "prescribed business activities" in Canada (as yet undefined but likely to align closely with existing higher risk sectors such as defence, dual-use technology and critical infrastructure), where the investor will receive access to sensitive technical information or assets at closing. The regime is designed to address perceived national security harms arising in minority investments from the act of closing itself, which are difficult to remedy in a review initiated post-closing. Other amendments include interim measures powers, allowing the government to require the target Canadian business be held separate pending completion of national security review, and the grant of more powers to the ISI Minister to take procedural and some enforcement decisions without Cabinet oversight.

CHINA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. If national security issues are raised in the context of a foreign-domestic transaction, it would be mandatory to seek National Security Review ("NSR") clearance. A separate Foreign Investment Review ("FIR") is also mandatory for investments subject to restrictions in the Negative List (as prescribed in the current Special Administrative Measures on Access to Foreign Investment). Penalties for breach in the context of NSR clearance include an order to notify the transaction, make rectification and unwind the deal. Closing without FIR approval will also render the transaction invalid.

Nature of the review

NSR – The NSR process applies to the foreign investments (including greenfield investments, acquisition of equity or assets of a company in China and foreign investments in China in any other way) in China involving any of the following sectors:

- investments in military and related or adjacent activities; or
- investments in key agricultural products, key energy and resources, key equipment manufacturing, key infrastructure, key transportation services, key cultural products and services, key information technology and internet products and services, key financial services, key technologies or other key sectors that bear on national security; AND the foreign investor(s) will acquire de facto control over the invested enterprise in any of the foregoing sectors.

The above-mentioned investment must be notified to a newly established interministerial government body, the NSR working mechanism office. However, the rules do not specify what amounts to "key", which leaves the authority with discretion. The authority has been open to accept consultation requests.

FIR – All foreign investments in Chinese companies subject to restrictions in the Negative List have to be reviewed and approved by the central Ministry of Commerce (or its local counterparts) or certain other sector-specific regulators.

Timetable

NSR

- Preliminary review: 15 business days from the receipt of all the required materials;
- General review: 30 business days; and
- Special review: 60 business days (may be extended under certain special circumstances).

FIR – The approval time frame varies depending on the authority in question.

Triggering events

NSR – In relation to transactions involving the military sector, an NSR process may be triggered irrespective of the interest to be acquired in the target.

In the case of other sectors, an NSR process may be triggered only if the foreign investor intends to acquire de facto control (50% interests; significant influence over the shareholders' meeting or the board; or de facto control over business decisions, financial affairs, personnel and/or technology or other matters) of the Chinese target.

FIR – Foreign investment in restricted sectors will be subject to approval and certain restrictions such as a cap on foreign ownership percentage.

Case study: Yonghui Superstores/ Zhongbai Holdings

Yonghui Superstores intended to acquire a controlling interest in Zhongbai Holdings, a Chinese state-owned retailer. The National Development and Reform Commission ("NDRC") intervened as 19.99% of the shares in Yonghui were owned by a foreign entity, Dairy Farm International (which is ultimately controlled by Jardine). It is widely believed that the NDRC commenced its NSR process primarily out of national defence concerns due to Zhongbai's essential role as the major provider of warehousing and distribution to the 2019 Military World Games and Zhongbai's store network in certain military colleges in Wuhan. The retail sector is likely to be considered as a sensitive sector by the NDRC. Eventually, Yonghui withdrew its tender offer in December 2019 following the NDRC's commencement of a special review process.

JAPAN

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory for acquisitions by foreign investors of shares in Japanese companies operating in certain restricted sectors ("Inward Direct Investment") and acquisitions by foreign investors from other foreign investors of shares in Japanese unlisted companies operating in certain restricted sectors ("Specified Acquisitions"), in the absence of exemptions. A pre-closing filing must be made with the Minister of Finance and other relevant ministers through the Bank of Japan.

Acquisitions by foreign investors of shares in Japanese companies in non-restricted sectors are subject to a post-acquisition report.

The government may pass an order to unwind, discontinue or alter a deal. Criminal sanctions, including imprisonment, are possible in case of a breach of such order.

Nature of the review

A pre-closing filing process regarding Inward Direct Investment applies if the deal involves certain restricted sectors such as businesses involving the manufacturing of weapons, aircraft, artificial satellites, nuclear reactors, and accessories or parts of the above, telecommunications, IT services, software, pharmaceuticals regarding infectious diseases, certain medical devices, certain protected domestic industries including agriculture and fishing, and critical minerals (including rare earth elements) whereas a post-acquisition report process applies to other sectors.

A pre-closing filing process regarding Specified Acquisitions applies if the deal involves certain businesses that may impair national security such as the manufacturing of weapons, aircraft, artificial satellites, nuclear reactors, and accessories or parts of the above, software, integrated circuits, critical minerals (including rare earth elements), etc.

During the pre-closing filing process, the government can review and prohibit an investment in a Japanese company if such investment may have an adverse effect on national security, public order, public safety or the Japanese economy.

Timetable

A pre-closing filing must be made 30 calendar days before such acquisition, and the parties cannot complete the investment before obtaining approval. The 30-day prohibition period may be shortened, and the relevant ministers typically make an effort to complete the assessment within 5 business days, to the extent possible. In certain cases, the relevant ministers may, however, extend the 30-day prohibition period to up to five months.

A post-acquisition report must be made 45 calendar days following the investment.

Triggering events

A pre-closing filing relating to share acquisitions for an Inward Direct Investment or equivalent action is required if a foreign investor (i) directly acquires a single share of a non-listed Japanese company or directly acquires 1% or more of the issued shares or voting shares of a listed Japanese company AND (ii) such Japanese company operates in certain restricted sectors; provided that there are exemptions such as those for certain financial firms (e.g., securities firms, banks, insurance companies and asset managers). There are other types of Inward Direct Investments which may trigger a filing in Japan, such as a transfer of business by a Japanese company and appointment of a director of a Japanese company.

A pre-closing filing for a Specified Acquisition is required if a foreign investor (i) directly acquires a single share of a non-listed Japanese company from another foreign investor AND (ii) such Japanese company operates in certain restricted sectors. There are some exemptions such as those for certain financial firms; however, if the Japanese company operates in the core sectors designated by the government such as the manufacturing of weapons, aircraft, etc., these exemptions do not apply.

A post-acquisition report is required if a foreign investor directly acquires listed Japanese companies meeting the exemptions, and for most investments in non-listed Japanese companies that are not subject to a pre-closing filing requirement.

Case study:
TCI Transaction

The government issued an order of discontinuance for a proposed investment in The Electric Power Development Co. Ltd. (also known as J Power) by The Children's Investment Fund ("TCI") on the grounds that such investment might jeopardise public order. This is the only case where an order of discontinuance has been issued.

RUSSIA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory and suspensory. Approval of the Governmental Commission for Control over Foreign Investments must be obtained prior to closing. Transactions closed in breach of the regime are null and void. In relation to transactions taking place offshore, the Russian courts may strip the voting rights from shares acquired by a foreign investor.

Nature of the review

Clearance is required in two scenarios: (i) a Russian Target company is active in so-called strategic activities, and/or (ii) the acquirer is a public foreign investor.

The law lists 50 types of strategic activities, however, there is a trend to construe this list broadly. Key sectors include aviation, airports, subsoil, natural monopolies, pharma, cryptography, telecommunications and media.

> NB: Please refer to section "New FDI regime" below for information about the new FDI regime introduced by the Russian President on 8 September 2022. This regime applies to almost all transactions, including foreign-to-foreign and intra-group transactions, which involve direct or indirect transfers of shares in the Russian LLCs. In October 2022 this regime has been extended to also cover Russian JSCs.*

Timetable

Legally, the review process should be completed within six months. However, in practice, the process can take significantly longer, partially because the Governmental Commission only convenes three or four times a year.

Triggering events

Prior approval is required for the direct or indirect acquisition by a foreign investor of control over a Russian strategic entity, which includes:

- for private foreign investors: stakes above 50% in a strategic company (or 25% in the subsoil sector);
- for state-owned foreign investors: stakes above 25% in a strategic company (or 5% in the subsoil sector); or
- acquisition of equivalent rights or of assets from a strategic company.

In addition, public foreign investors are required to obtain approval for any direct or indirect acquisition of more than 25% of the shares or equivalent rights in any (i.e., non-strategic) Russian company.

Ad hoc* resolutions. The chairman of the Governmental Commission is entitled to issue ad hoc resolutions at his/her discretion requiring that approval must be obtained for any other transaction that concerns a Russian entity, i.e., for any transaction that does not technically fall under the regime. Based on current practice, ad hoc resolutions may concern, inter alia, subsoil users, providers of services to strategic entities, high-tech companies, and manufacturers of products that have no local analogues.

New FDI regime:

On 8 September 2022, the Russian President has adopted Decree No. 618 (the "Decree") that requires that transactions involving the transfer of control over a stake in a Russian limited liability company (direct or indirect) must receive prior clearance by the Government FDI Commission. It is a special body that was established in March 2022 to review transactions between Russian residents and non-Russian entities from "unfriendly" jurisdictions.

According to the Decree, any direct or indirect transfer of shares or control rights in a Russian limited liability company (LLC) between (i) a foreign investor from an "unfriendly" jurisdiction and (ii) either another foreign investor (from any jurisdiction) or a Russian entity or individual, is subject to a prior clearance. There is no minimum threshold – any shareholding is caught, as well as contractual rights relating to the management or conduct of the business. No exemptions exist for intra-group transactions.

Since October 2022, the regime has been extended to cover transactions involving direct or indirect acquisitions of any stakes in Russian JSCs.

UK

Type of filing requirement

Under the National Security and Investment Act (NSI Act), the Government has powers to call in and review a very wide range of transactions, and a sub-set of these transactions are subject to a mandatory and suspensory filing regime.

Mandatory and suspensory for qualifying investments in targets with certain activities in any of 17 sensitive sectors listed below. Potential consequences of breach include criminal penalties (imprisonment for up to 5 years), fines of up to 5% of the group worldwide turnover of the investor or GBP 10 million (whichever is higher) and voidness of the transaction.

Voluntary and non-suspensory for all other qualifying investments.

Nature of the review

Transactions are reviewable by the Government under the NSI Act on national security grounds only. Transactions in any sector can be reviewed, but there is a higher risk of a national security intervention if the target has certain activities in, or closely linked to, any of the following 17 sensitive sectors: civil nuclear; communications; data infrastructure; defence; energy; transport; artificial intelligence; advanced robotics; computing hardware; cryptographic authentication; advanced materials; quantum technologies; synthetic biology; critical suppliers to government; suppliers to the emergency services; military or dual-use technologies; and satellite and space technologies.

Investments in real estate that is used for sensitive activities, critical infrastructure or Government buildings, or that is proximate to such a site, will also carry a higher risk of intervention.

In addition, under the UK merger control regime, the Government can intervene in transactions (if they meet the applicable merger control thresholds) on the basis of their impact on media plurality, stability of the UK financial system or the ability of the UK to combat a public health emergency.

Timetable

NSI Act reviews: the initial period is 30 working days from the date when the filing is accepted as complete (which is typically a few days after a filing is submitted). If the Government decides to carry out a detailed national security review, the period is extended by an additional 30-75 working days (the clock stops if the Government sends a formal information request to the parties to the transaction or to third parties).

For transactions that are reviewed by the Government under the merger control regime, on other public interest grounds (see “Nature of the Review”), the Government has until four months from closing to decide whether to initiate a detailed Phase II investigation, but it will typically do so anywhere between 20-80 working days from the date on which a deal is notified or called in for review. A Phase II review lasts a further six-eight months.

Triggering events

Under the NSI Act, filing is mandatory for investments in legal entities with certain UK activities in any of the 17 sensitive sectors listed on the previous page, if the investment causes the investor's shareholding or voting rights to exceed a threshold of 25%, 50% or 75%, or it allows the investor to veto or determine any class of resolution governing the target's affairs.

In addition, the government has powers under the voluntary filing regime to carry out a national security review (up to 5 years after closing) of:

- investments in legal entities (active in any sector), if they (i) cause the investor's shares or voting rights to exceed a 25%, 50% or 75% threshold; (ii) allow the investor to veto or determine any class of resolution governing the target's affairs; or (iii) confer material influence over the target (which can be as low as 15% with no board seat, or even result from purely contractual rights); and
- investments in assets (in any sector) that allow the investor to use the asset, to direct or control how the asset is used, or to do so to a greater extent than before the transaction. Assets for these purposes are land, tangible moveable property and certain intellectual property.

Investments can also be reviewed under the merger control regime on certain other public interest grounds (see "Nature of the Review") if they confer at least material influence over the target and either (i) the target has a UK turnover of GBP 70 million or more, or (ii) the target and investor both supply or purchase the same products or services (or one has certain media sector activities) and have a share of such supplies/purchases of 25% or more in the UK or a part of it.

Case study: Acquisition of Inmarsat by Viasat

The Government imposed conditions on the transaction on the basis of national security risks relating to the sensitive defence and security data held by Inmarsat (a provider of satellite communications services) and the maintenance of strategic capabilities of Inmarsat in the UK. To address these concerns, the Government required that controls be put in place to protect information from unauthorised access, and that strategic capabilities continue to be provided by Inmarsat and Viasat to the UK Government

USA

Type of filing requirement

Mandatory. The approval of the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States ("CFIUS") must be obtained prior to closing certain investments in a US business, directly or indirectly, by non-US parties.

Voluntary. Even if a mandatory filing requirement does not apply, a voluntary notification may be advisable.

Non-notified transactions may be subject to post-closing review and can be, in extreme cases, unwound. The Committee has dedicated significant resources to identifying and intervening when it deems necessary in the form of directed inquiries into non-notified transactions. In its 2021 Annual Report, CFIUS disclosed various methods it uses to identify non-notified and non-declared transactions including tips from the public, interagency referrals, media reports, commercial databases, and congressional notifications. The Committee identified 135 non-notified transactions – of these, the parties in 8 transactions were directed to submit a post-closing filing. The identification of these transactions evidences CFIUS's increasingly proactive role in monitoring and investigating foreign investment into the United States.

Financial penalties. Civil fines of up to the entire value of the transaction for failure to make a mandatory filing or for negligence or material omissions to submissions. Fines may also be levied for noncompliance with mitigation agreements.

Nature of the review

CFIUS can impose mitigation measures or conditions to address any identified national security risks. In certain instances, the President, based on CFIUS's findings, can block pending or unwind completed non-US investments. The broad focus of recent CFIUS reviews has been on transactions in the defense, telecommunications, energy, high-tech and emerging technologies, and food and medical industries, as well as transactions dealing with specific areas of U.S. national infrastructure and those which involve access to and collection of sensitive personal information on individuals. These are not the only relevant industries, however, for CFIUS purposes.

Timetable

Short form declarations: An expedited filing reviewed within 30 days. The Committee may request a formal notification after its review of a declaration, elongating the timeline.

Notification: The traditional notice process, which can take three to five months total. The standard 45-day notification review may be followed by a national security investigation (45 days), and, rarely, by presidential review (15 days).

Triggering events

Mandatory Filing:

- State-owned enterprises: Direct or indirect investments by entities owned 49% or more by a non-U.S. government that obtains a 25% or more voting stake in a TID U.S. business (involved in "Critical [T]echnology", "Critical [I]nfrastructure" or "Sensitive Personal [D]ata").
- Other foreign investors: Direct or indirect investments in a TID U.S. business that produces, designs, tests, manufactures, fabricates or develops Critical Technologies where the Foreign Investor will obtain "control" (broadly defined as any "power, direct or indirect, whether or not exercised, through the ownership of a majority or a dominant minority of the total outstanding voting interest in an entity, board representation, proxy voting, a special share, contractual arrangements, formal or informal arrangements to act in concert, or other means, to determine, direct, or decide important matters affecting an entity") of the target. These technologies are defined by export control licensing requirements for "Defense Articles" and "Defense Services" controlled under the International Traffic in Arms Regulations ("ITAR"), and various dual-use and other commercial items subject to the Export Administration Regulations ("EAR"). Non-US items can be subject to these regulations (and therefore critical technologies) if they contain or incorporate certain US-origin content or technologies above certain thresholds.

Voluntary Filing:

- Recommended when the risk of a post-closing CFIUS intervention exceeds the burdens of filing. This depends on the U.S. target's sensitivity; the non-U.S. investor's ownership, activities and intentions; and the parties' tolerance for continued CFIUS risk to the deal.

Real Estate Transactions:

- CFIUS may review real estate transactions in certain sensitive locations that are within statutory proximity thresholds to certain airports, maritime ports, military installations and sensitive government facilities.

Case Studies:

(i) Wise Road Capital and Magnachip Merger

(ii) Borqs Divestiture of HHE

(i) In December 2021, Wise Road Capital, a Chinese private equity firm, and Magnachip Corp., a New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) listed company with operations primarily in South Korea, announced that they had abandoned a planned merger in the face of CFIUS opposition. The withdrawal marked the end of a tumultuous nine months for the parties. While Magnachip is listed on the NYSE and maintains a Delaware entity, the company indicated that it performs manufacturing, R&D, and sales activities in South Korea and maintains most employees, tangible assets, and IT systems outside of the United States, and that this limited US presence was insufficient for CFIUS to have jurisdiction to conduct a review. CFIUS, however, disagreed, directing the parties to file a formal notice (which was filed in June 2021), and blocked the parties from finalizing the transaction until CFIUS review had concluded, stating the deal posed "risks to national security," and that the parties failed to "adequately mitigate the identified risks". Despite the parties withdrawing and refiling their notice in September to provide additional time to obtain clearance, they were unable to reach an agreement that mitigated the CFIUS-identified US national security risks to the satisfaction of CFIUS. In the face of an all-but-certain US presidential blocking of the transaction, the parties voluntarily elected to abandon the merger.

(ii) In December 2022, Borqs Technologies Inc. ("Borqs"), the China-based IoT platform solution provider, announced that CFIUS reviewed its 2021 acquisition of majority ownership in Holu Hou Energy LLC ("HHE"), a U.S. energy storage company, and required it to fully divest its ownership interests and rights in HHE due to national security concerns including HHE's position as a top ten solar energy storage supplier in Hawaii with critical technology focused on multi-family dwelling units that are common in military housing.
